Course Summary: In their more dispassionate and rational moments, people remind themselves that they should not get too worked up by what happens in a sporting event. After all, they note, "it's just a game." However, as any serious observer of American and world history can tell us, many significant sporting events of the past century have been far more than "just" games. These events and the people involved in them have figured prominently in many of the most important political issues of the past century. This course introduces students to core issues in American and world politics, but do so through the lens of sports and the athletes who play them.

The course is divided into three parts:

- 1. The 1930s: when sports intersected with the Nazi march to war and issues of race in the U.S.
- 2. The postwar era: specifically the ways in which sports interacted with the civil rights movement in the U.S., Middle East turmoil, and the Cold War
- 3. The end of the Cold War: most notably Mandela's use of rugby to help unify post-Apartheid South Africa.

Please Note:

- All Power Point slides, assignments, grades, study guides, and online reading will be posted at Canvas.
- In Canvas, Power Point slides are listed with a lecture/class number and the date these match the lecture/class number and date of the class listed in the syllabus.
  - If I don't lecture on a day (e.g., on exam days), there will be no Power Point slides that go with that day's lecture number and date.
- For additional class policies, please see the Course Expectations page.

Required Texts:

- See Canvas
- Videos: You will be expected to remember the main points from the videos that we show in class although you don't need to know all the details.
- All reading listed for the course is required, unless otherwise noted.

Lectures:

- Attendance is not mandatory.
  - There is no need to let the instructors know when you are going to miss class. (In fact, please don't inform us unless it is really, really important.)
- Through the Classroom Hotline, I have requested that campus IT set up "Lecture Capture" to automatically video record all lectures and automatically store them at our Canvas class site. In the past when I have done this, the system worked flawlessly.
- However, If I am unable record lectures:
  - If you miss classes, you will need to get notes or find out what you missed from another student in the class (and not from the instructors). But, as with any class, the instructors will be happy to answer any specific questions about the material.

Assignments/Grades:

Students' final grades will be based on the following assignments.

- (1) Participation in class (10%).
  - Everyone in the class receives an automatic 100% for their participation score. However, students may receive lower participation scores if they act rudely toward others (other students and/or instructors) in the class, repeatedly ask questions that can be answered by reading the syllabus or Course Expectations, or send inappropriate/unprofessional emails/Canvas messaging to the instructors.
    - I prefer that our written communication be over email, NOT CANVAS MESSAGE. My email address is listed at the top of the syllabus. See this EXCELLENT GUIDE to EMAIL ETIQUETTE. (Note that if you absolutely insist on communicating with me over Canvas message which I strongly urge you NOT to do I expect the same professional etiquette as in emails.)

- In addition, anyone engaging in any of the following behaviors in class will have their lecture participation grade lowered:
  - TEXTING, USING THE INTERNET, EMAILING (ETC.), CHATTING, sleeping, horsing around, cell phone use, reading the newspaper, regularly arriving late or leaving early, and discourteous language will lead to a low participation grade.
- I am likely to give a 0 for participation to any student that I (or the TAs) see texting, internet or social media, chatting, emailing, etc. in class. I am unlikely to give you any warning on this.
- Also, actions that generally ignore the "Course Behavior and Expectations" may lead to a lowered Participation grade.
- If it appears that students are surfing/viewing the internet/emailing (etc.) in class, I may ban the use of laptops/smartphones/etc. in the classroom.
- Attendance in lecture is not mandatory, so if you need to do any of these things, please do them outside of the class.
  - (2) In-class Midterm (45%) Class #10 (2/2, Wednesday). Please bring a Blue Book, size 8.5 X 7, 16 sheets (32 pages).
    - The exam will cover everything in the course up to this point. Most likely, it will be an in-class essay exam.
    - I will provide you with a Study Guide.
  - (3) Final (45%) will be Thu. Mar.17 at 1-3pm in our regular classroom.
    - The exam may cover all material from the class, but emphasis will be placed on material after the midterm. Most likely, the format of the exam will be similar to the midterm.
    - Be sure to bring two (2) blank blue books (see dimensions above) to the final.
    - You know the date and time of the final well in advance. Short of a serious personal emergency (serious illness, death in the family, military service for all these things, you must provide documentation) or religious observance (in which case you must let me know at the start of the quarter), I will not offer alternative final exam dates.
    - I will provide you with a Study Guide.
  - For in-class exams, you will turn in your blue books at the start of the exam period and then be given new ones. Blue books with pages torn out of them will not be accepted.
  - (4) Test on course expectations: If it becomes clear that students are ignoring the course expectations and/or syllabus, I reserve the right to give a test that measures students' knowledge/awareness of the course expectations/syllabus. This test will not raise any student's score in the class, but it may lower your lecture participation grade.

See the next page for information on grades and grading.

Grades

Numerical grades translate into letter grades as follows: 100 = A+ 93.4-99.9 = A 90-93.3 = A-86.7-89.9 = B+ 83.4-86.6 = B 80 - 83.3 = B-Etc.

- The translation of scores to letter grades is all set mathematically. I will not respond to requests to have me change your grade above what your score merits according to the above scale.
- For information on how to have your assignment regraded, please see Regrading Policy.

Important UCD Information for You about Academic Conduct

The campus requires that I notify you of the following:

- "The requirement to include "notice of the Code of Academic Conduct" on all undergraduate and graduate course outlines (syllabi) per Regulation 537. You can provide notice on your syllabi however you prefer; it can be as simple as including a link to the Code's webpage."
- "The authority for instructors to assign a student a maximum grade penalty of "F" for a course—as opposed to an "F" only on the examination or assignment in question— when "academic misconduct is admitted or is determined by adjudication to have occurred," per Regulation 550."

Academic Participation Requirements for Students

Last year the U.S. Department of Education determined that UC Davis needed to institute additional measures for validating that students participate in their registered classes. To comply with this mandate, in September 2018 the campus will require students to verify that they have begun each course for which they are registered via the Academic Participation program. This program also encourages students to acknowledge their responsibilities regarding academic integrity and the Code of Academic Conduct, reinforcing our campus culture of honesty.

MyUCDavis will notify students online and through email on the first day of instruction to complete their Academic Participation verification no later than the quarter add deadline. Failing to verify academic participation by this deadline may result in a reduction of the student's financial aid award. We call upon faculty and staff to assist in communicating this new requirement to students. A few examples of how to do this include:

- Faculty may include the link participate.ucdavis.edu in their syllabus, on Canvas, and discuss the requirement on the first day of class.
- Advisors and other staff could send additional notices to their students, and remind them during advising appointments.

For more information please visit participate.ucdavis.edu/faculty, or contact an expert.
